

Contaminated Cannabis

Multiple balance sheets.
One policy. One payment.
One solution.

Our Contaminated Cannabis policy is designed to help cultivators, manufacturers, retailers, and distributors to manage threats to their products, brands, and financial strength.

Cultivators, manufacturers, and supply chain partners all face high potential costs from the need to withdraw a product from the marketplace. Increased governmental testing, oversupply of product and varied product safety standards all contributed to evolving recall trends for cannabis products. Challenges in this industry are complex and diverse—including contaminated product (pesticides/herbicides, mold, foreign materials), mislabeled product, packaging defects, failed testing—all of which can have significant impact on your company's reputation and bottom line.
